

Covid-19 Response Grants 2021/22

Grants of a maximum £500 are available to support organisations to do one or all of the following:

- Deliver a range of health and wellbeing activities in response to Covid-19 that address a reduction in health and social inequalities and/or improve mental health and wellbeing.
- Pilot new ideas and initiatives or adapting previous activities. Please see examples of previous projects here for ideas.
- Support the development and training of employees, volunteers or clients directly relating to the work of the programme that funding is being sought for.
- Purchase equipment which directly relates to the work of the programme that funding is being sought for.
- We particularly welcome applications from diverse communities and grass-root organisations, that aim to deliver new and innovative Covid-responsive activities.

Quick decisions will be made on allocation of grants and ongoing support will be offered.
